Rekommendationer efter dialogen som Sverige stödde (mina understrykningar)

95.29. Take concrete and stern actions to ensure equal treatment for all in society, in particular to remove de facto discrimination against and xenophobic attitudes towards migrants, asylum seekers, refugees and other ethnic/religious minorities (Pakistan);

95.35. Consider implementing the existing legislation on non-discrimination with respect to all children within its jurisdiction (Hungary);

95.40. Continue to address the concerns of human rights treaty bodies, special procedures and UNHCR in respect of immigrant, refugee and minority women in the area of equality and non-discrimination, and consider implementing, as appropriate, their recommendations (Jordan);

95.75. Address the specific needs of minorities and migrants, particularly women and children (Bangladesh);

95.79. Guarantee in equal fashion for both its national citizens and foreigners residing in Sweden the highest level of health possible, without any form of discrimination, pursuant to its international obligations, particularly those set out in ICESCR (Mexico);

Rekommendationer som Sverige kommer att svara på senast i september 2010

96.8. Adopt a legislative framework for ensuring the right of all migrant children to the best possible medical services and adequate housing, and fully implement those rights (Belarus);

96.40. Guarantee for all undocumented migrants access to the same healthcare system, on the same basis, as persons with residence permits (Brazil);

96.41. Improve the services, especially social services, provided to asylum-seekers; stress the importance of providing asylum-seekers deprived of means of subsistence with health insurance comparable to that afforded to nationals (France);

96.42. Put an end to denying the right to education of children belonging to minorities or who do not have a residency permit in the country (Cuba);

96.43. Ensure that those who find themselves in an irregular situation have legally recognized access to medical services and assistance, as provided in article 12 of the International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights (Spain);

96.44. Adopt legislative measures to guarantee the right to education for all migrant boys and girls (Spain)¹⁴;
